

Student members of the Program Committees of Tilburg School of Humanities and Digital sciences

For the academic year 2020-2021
Tilburg University

For the Program Committees, we are looking for new students of all bachelor and (research) master programs of TSHD:

- BA Liberal Arts and Sciences
- BA & MA Culture Studies
- BA & MA Communication and Information Sciences
- BA & MA Philosophy
- BA & MA Cognitive Science and Artificial Intelligence
- MA Data Science and Society
- RMA Linguistics and Communication Sciences
- Post-MA Teacher Dutch
- Post-MA Teacher Philosophy

Do you feel that participation is important for students and would you like to give advice to the School Board? If so, this position might be interesting to you!

What do the Program Committees do?

A Program Committee is made up of teaching staff and students from a specific degree and have the key task of assuring the quality of teaching and the teaching process in this program. Formally, the Program Committee is tasked with advising on the Education and Examinations Regulations (EER) and their implementation. It can also provide solicited and unsolicited recommendations on all aspects of education. As such, it plays an indispensable role in assuring quality.

Function

Participating in the Program Committee will take on average one hour per week. The duties of a student member of the Program Committee are:

- Attend meetings of the Program Committee of your program (about once every two months)
- Liaising with the program director of the relevant program and the student advisors of the Board
- Advise student advisors and answer questions from the Faculty Council
- Monitor the quality of education. This includes: maintain contact with students from your program and providing input into the meeting when you notice that there are problems in your program
- Studying documents about various aspects of your program (like the Education and Examination Regulations)
- Attending Dante Platform meetings (close to the Faculty Council, about once every two months)

Profile

It is intended that the Program Committees have a varied student composition so that all students of a program can be heard. Therefore, we are looking for students from all years and from all directions and graduate profiles.

A member of the Program Committee must be enrolled as a student at Tilburg School of Humanities and Digital sciences. The term formally runs from September 1st 2020 to August 31st 2021. In practice, there will be meetings (and you should therefore be available) until July 1st 2021. Furthermore, members should be pro-active, involved with matters that concern their program, have good English language skills and have problem solving ability.

Compensation

Student members of a Program Committee receive a fee for attending meetings. This will be a sum of € 45,- per month. This attendance money will be awarded for 10 months, if you remain appointed in the committee throughout the term and attend the majority of meetings.

Information and application

If we have piqued your interest, please apply by sending an email to both student advisors:

Student advisor for the Faculty Board: David Bleijlevens

(studentassessor\_board@tilburguniversity.edu)

Student advisor for the Education Faculty Consultation: Isabelle Lier

(studentassessor\_education@tilburguniversity.edu)

Make sure you put in your email indicating which Program Committee you are applying for, which program you follow, in which year you are and which direction you have chosen in your program. Do not forget to add your motivation and resume. When you need more information, you can contact the student advisors as well.
